Robert Kulp

Dear Dealer Spike Hiring Manager,

I'm sure you have sifted through many resumes by now, even so I ask you to look closer at me. Please take a look at my website at www.rabithole.com. As you are doing this, keep in mind I am a seasoned employee having had a previous career as an automotive technician and I am accustomed to working with a diverse group of people. This being a new career for me, I am looking to get my foot in the door with a solid firm so that I can prove my worth.

At the moment I am unclear how my skill set compares to others in this industry. I can tell you from years of experience, I rarely start out anything I do as beginner. Usually I quickly become intermediate in whatever I choose to focus on. I am a highly motivated, outgoing and goal oriented individual. As an avid surfer, mountain biker, snow boarder and musician, I live a healthy active life style whose interests lay in the depth the activity or career has to offer. I seek a work place of similar personalities that will compliment my own.

By hiring me you are adding an upbeat attitude who enjoys empowering all persons in a team. I hope I have convinced you I am worth a closer look with a personal interview.

Sincerely,

Robert Kulp

Profile

I am an aspiring Jr. Web Developer looking for an outgoing team that is enthusiastic about what they do. The past three years I have been applying what I learn in school to real world projects to prepare myself for the work place. My personal website is an ongoing process intended to demonstrate my skills listed below, and more will be added in time as I am regularly and daily building upon my skills and experience.

Presently I am focused on learning JavaScript and its related technologies. I lack experience and I am looking to get my foot in the door of an agile development environment. Work for me does not end outside of the workplace and I spend much of my time outside of work continuing my education to facilitate the company I work for.
